Bridlington Railway Station:

Station Approach, Bridlington, YO15 3EP is approximately 1 mile away. It is located on the Yorkshire Coast Line and is operated by Northern Rail who provide all passenger train services. Access Station information, train times etc. via www.nationalrail.co.uk

The station buffet at Bridlington is one of only three original station buffets left in the UK, and provides the prize winning flower display in the station.

The station is staffed part-time, covering approximately 'shop hours'.

Facilities include a waiting room, ticket office, lost property and car park.

Wheelchair access is not complete due to a bridge to platform 4, (for Scarborough), meaning access to that platform is via a barrow crossing on the track which may require staff assistance.

A ticket-vending machine was installed on 26 January 2011, near to the Council Information Point inside the concourse.

There is a half hourly service from the station to Hull on weekdays, with alternate departures continuing to Doncaster and Sheffield – some of these are limited stop either side of Hull whilst others serve most intermediate stations en-route. In general the stopping pattern of the hourly Sheffield service is Bridlington, Driffeld, Beverley, Cottingham, Hull, Brough, Goole, Doncaster, Meadowhall and Sheffield. There are also nine departures a day to Scarborough, the frequency varying between every ninety minutes and every two hours. There is also one service each way to/from Sheffield that runs via Selby rather than the usual route via Goole.

On Sundays trains operate hourly to Hull and every second hour to Scarborough from mid-morning throughout the year, (rather than in summer only as before), with most of the Hull trains continuing to Sheffield via Doncaster.
